JASON MICHAEL LOPEZ

With over 15 years of experience as a professional filmmaker in both the United States and China, Jason has accumulated an immense amount of skill and know-how in the world of filmmaking. Having worked in several different platforms of filmmaking such as commercials, music videos, documentary, feature-length and short films, fashion videos, and branded content, Jason's vast experience has made him a versatile filmmaker, creatively and technically. Jason graduated with a Bachelor's of Fine Arts from the University of Southern California's School of Cinematic Arts in 2006. Since then, he has worked on countless film projects ranging from the positions of director, director of photography, and editor while simultaneously crafting his own passion projects. He's worked on projects which have played at film festivals, MTV, PBS, and other satellite and standard TV channels as well as websites, and social media. Not only has Jason worked with today's digital cameras such as Arri's Alexa and Amira cameras as well as with various Red cameras, he has also shot with film stock cameras such as the Arri SR, SR2 and Bolex super 8. Always searching for ways to improve his craft, Jason continues to remain passionate about filmmaking, enjoying every chance to create. His love for working both in China and the United States has kept him constantly moving back and forth between the two nations, gaining an ever-evolving perspective from working with two different cultures. No project for him lacks passion for the craft and medium that he loves; making the world his cinematic playground continues to be a rewarding joy for him as he strives to find new ways to shape light and forge images.
